At Ottawa the governor compared of each of the others except the congressional nominees, who have been foes for many years. It is thought, though, that even their differences can be reconciled.

All concerned are peculiarly gratified over the fact that Mr. Glasmann persuaded to sacrifice his personal wishes and accept the governorship. Aside from being postmaster of Ogden, mayor of that city, speaker of the Utah house of representatives and a biennial candidate for the congres-sional nomination for 16 years Mr. Glasmann has unfalteringly opposed the use of his name in any political connection whatever. He is, there-fore, regarded as an ideal candidate.

Senator Smoot's gracious action in stepping aside to make room for his life-long friend and ardent supporter Thomas Kearns formed the occasion much admiring comment. Senator Kearns protested against the step taken by his friend, assuring him that in the future, as always in the past, he would give Smoot his loyal support.
